Going around the world, who has never dreamed about it? This dream will come true the 5th of September 2009, date on which, first, I will board from Paris to Canada and from there start an amazing trip around the world!

This motivation comes from a great hunger for discovering men and their environment; land is wide and that's why I wish to go backpacking and keep moving from place to place. Using hitchhiking rather than other means of transport and staying with locals rather than sleeping in hotels, I am expecting to meet great people and discover exceptional landscapes.

I will first go through Americas from Québec to Ushuaia, and then I will land to Japan from where I will board to Russia, Europe of the East, Middle East and North Africa.

I BACKPACKER I

Enough a curious and volunteer traveler to go at this journey alone, I am also a natural smiling and open-minded person. I can be particularly stubborn when it comes to achieve my goals, I am counting on this (lightweight) fault to strengthen my determination and do not give up. I love the great outdoors, sport and reading and rarely refuse a good moment between friends.

The travelling seabird

I have decided to give the opportunity to two associations to take advantage of my presence in those distant countries: L'Ecole de la Paix (School of Peace) and Prométhée (Prometheus).

The purpose of Prométhée is to promote a better knowledge of energy issues and awareness of sustainable development. Drawing on an international database established by the founders of the association, Prométhée develops now a teaching kit to primary education students.

My mission is to enhance this database seeking information directly on-site through interviews and many photos.

For years, L'Ecole de la Paix leads an action in the Uraba in Colombia where local populations are affected by violence. Indeed, this region is a place where confrontations are common for possession of the ground and between the various armed actors. In addition, recent large-scale agro-industrial projects threat strongly the local ecosystem.

My mission is to bring my help and my expertise to projects undertaken on-site to point out local people rights.

3 Good reasons to become a partner of the project:

- First, to support the development of associations which trusted me enough to let me participate to their action.
- Then, because I will certainly not miss the opportunity to broadcast my project into French and local Medias and that I will associate for sure my partners to these broadcastings.
- Finally, because fulfilling his dreams is very important in life, in deciding to be part of this project you'll contribute to make mine comes true.

If you want to support my project in any way, you will appear on the page devoted to partnerships on the website "La mouette voyageuse" (The travelling seabird).

Your name, your logo, a description of your activity and your way of support will be added as well as a hyperlink to your own website to support your communication. In addition, your company logo will be fixed on my faithful backpack which will follow me in my travel.
